Governor Kotek Pauses Wildfire Hazard Map Appeals Referrals

Appeals must still be filed by March 10 deadline to stay in process

Salem, OR – Today, Governor Tina Kotek directed the Oregon Department of Forestry (ODF) to continue to accept all appeals of the Oregon Statewide Wildfire Hazard Map up to the March 10 deadline, but to pause on referring these appeals to the Office of Administrative Hearings until after the legislative session concludes. The session must end no later than June 29.

The Governor's decision allows the Legislature to carry out a public process for deliberating changes to the map requirements absent potential conflicts driven by a concurrent appeals process through the Office of Administrative Hearings. In addition, the pause will prevent Oregonians who elect to appeal their wildfire hazard zone designation from incurring potentially unnecessary legal fees between March and June of this year, if the Legislature makes changes to the Oregon Statewide Wildfire Hazard Map.

"Oregonians have raised concerns over the current Oregon Statewide Wildfire Hazard Map, and this issue runs parallel to our urgent need for long term, sustainable funding for wildfire response and mitigation," Governor Kotek said. "The Legislature is rising to the occasion on these challenges. This pause will allow for the transparent, public process required to address both. Lives and lands depend on it."

Those who wish to appeal the assignment of wildfire hazard zones or designation as wildland-urban interface still must submit the appeal to ODF by March 10, 2025. No attorney is required for this first step in the appeal process. This step simply ensures that those who wish to appeal are in the queue.

If the Legislature does not change the map or appeals process this session, ODF will refer the list of received appeals to the Office of Administrative Hearings following the session and continue the appeals process outlined in existing law.

Trees 18 feet or taller, the tree crowns within the defensible space shall be pruned to remove limbs located less than 6 feet (1829 mm) above the ground surface adjacent to the trees. Trees less than 18 feet shall be pruned to remove limbs equal to no more than 1/3 the trees height. To protect tree health, no more than 1/2 of the live crown shall be required to be removed at one time.

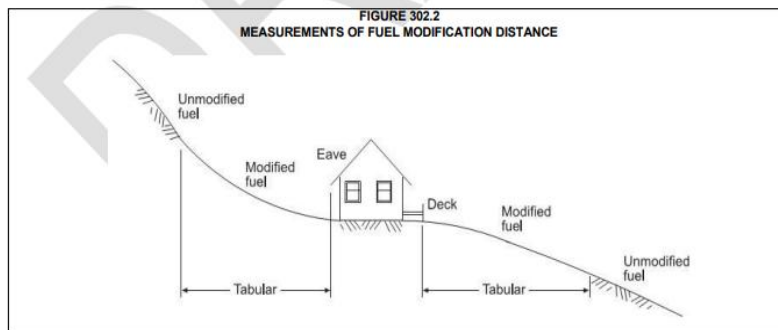

302.4.2.1 Deadwood. Deadwood and litter shall be regularly removed from within trees and on the ground around trees.

302.5 Ground cover. Where vegetative fuels, fire-resistant vegetation, or cultivated ground cover, such as green grass, ivy, succulents or similar plants are used as ground cover, they are allowed to be within the designated defensible space, provided that they do not form a means of transmitting fire from the native growth to any structure or other human development.

Only properties that are both high hazard and in the wildland-urban interface will be required to meet enhanced defensible space standards (ORS 476.392) and home hardening codes (ORS 455.612).

Purpose: Oregon Revised Statute (ORS) 477.490 directs Oregon State University and the Oregon Department of Forestry to develop and maintain a comprehensive statewide wildfire hazard map for three purposes:

1. To educate Oregon residents and property owners about the residents' and owners' wildfire exposure.
2. To assist in prioritizing fire adaptation and mitigation resources for the most vulnerable locations.
3. To identify where defensible space standards and home hardening codes will apply.

The Oregon Wildfire Risk Explorer Wildfire Hazard Map was constructed in accordance with Oregon Administrative Rules (OAR) in Chapter 629, Division 44.

Where to access public data: A selection of spatial data including the statewide wildland-urban interface map, wildfire hazard modeling inputs, wildfire hazard calculation inputs, and a raster format of the statewide wildfire hazard map, are available for public download at https://oe.oregonexplorer.info/externalcontent/wildfire_data/SB80_Public_Data.zip. Data sharing agreements between counties and the state prohibit OSU and ODF from publicly sharing any data which includes tax lot boundaries. All spatial data require a geographic information system (GIS) to open, display and analyze. Specific data descriptions and metadata are included in the public download file.
